Gey van Pittius, Jan Hendrik, 1879-

Pittius, Thomas, 1636-1687.

A discourse concerning the trial of spirits. Wherein inquiry is made into mens pretences to inspiration for publishing doctrines, in the name of God, beyond the rules of the Sacred Scriptures. In opposition to some principles and practices of papists and fanatics; as they contradict the doctrine of the Church of England, defined in her Articles of religion, established by her ecclesiastical canons, and confirmed by acts of Parliament. By Thomas Pittius ... London, E. Vise, 1683.

Pittsburgh synod of the Evangelical Lutheran church.

Organized in 1845, it became a member of the General synod in 1850. In 1867 it suffered a disruption, the larger part of its membership continuing under the same name and the same numbering of its conventions and joining the General council. For purposes of this catalogue the Pittsburgh synod is identified with the General council is given a separate entry with the qualification General council, in course. The two bodies joined the United Lutheran church in America in 1919 and themselves reunited into one body in 1919.

Pittsburgh synod of the Evangelical Lutheran church (General council)

In 1907 a majority in the Pittsburgh synod wanted to join the new General council which was in process of organization in opposition to the General synod of which the Pittsburgh synod had been a member. Both parties claimed to be the true Pittsburgh synod, contained the same organization, numbering of proceedings etc. In this catalogue the synod affiliated with the General council is differentiated from the other by the addition of the words General council, enclosed in curves, to the name. In 1919 the synods composing the General council and the General synod united to form the United Lutheran church in America. As a result both Pittsburgh synods found themselves in the same larger body and therefore united again in 1919.

Pittsburgh theological seminary of the United Presbyterian church of North America.

Founded 1828 at Pittsburgh by the American Reformed church of the West, one of the synods of the American Reformed church of North America. Transferred to Allegheny 1830, and known as Allegheny theological seminary. In 1830, by a division of the synod into two bodies, a second seminary was established at Oxford, O., the funds of Allegheny seminary being equally divided between the two institutions. In 1838, with the union of the American and the American Reformed churches, the Allegheny seminary became Allegheny theological seminary of the United Presbyterian church of North America; in 1913, when Allegheny became a part of Pittsburgh, the name was changed to Pittsburgh theological seminary of the United Presbyterian church of North America.

Planets, The seven (Block-book)

A block book find in Denmark, with an introduction by Carl Dunreicher and Sofus Larsen. (Aarhus: Aarhus stiftsbogtrykkeri 1910, 1930.)

2 p. l. 8-41 p. incl. illus, facsimile. 41 1/2".

Printed in 200 copies, no. 41.

The planet book, or set of 41 colored seven planet prints, was acquired for the Statens museum for Kunst from the Count Chr. Lerche collection in 1928. In 1929 a Danish edition of the facsimiles was published.

The reproduction of the planet pictures (is. 27-36.) includes facsimiles of the Latin text written on the back of the leaves. These text facsimiles are repeated on p. 35-38 with typographical transcripts and English translations added.

Planets, The seven (Block-book)

A block book find in Denmark ... 1890. (Card 2)

A copy of this block book (ca. 1400) in the Kupferstichkabinett of the Staatliche Museen in Berlin is believed to have impressions of "Mars" and "Jupiter" from the same (original?) blocks from which the Danish set is printed, while the other five pictures are judged to be prints from recent blocks of nearly the same age. cf. Introduction, p. 22; also W. L. Schneider, Manuscript, i. re (1902) p. 417-427; Haeussler, ibid. iv (1917) p. 75-78; and F. Lippmann, The seven planets (Internationale Chalcographie, soc. 1895)

—Foreword.

"Max Rooses, the biographer of Plantin, while stating that Grevin was general author of the Dialogue and that the Flemish translation was by Pierre Kerkhove and Corneille Boulenger, believes that the chapter on writing and printing was written by Plantin himself. M. d'Anvers in
